

I Still Believe
by DaQuaye Wells
2nd Grade
Slowe Elementary

I still believe in Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s work. His hard work lets people have a chance for a peaceful future. He wanted other people to believe in non-violence. He wanted people to work together. He did not want people to kill each other.

Dr. King's hard work will help us get a good education. I will have a better career in the future because I can go to good schools. It may help me be a lawyer and help change laws to help people, too. It may help me to be a hero in the future.